

Indianapolis Web Design Company Launches Website for Indiana Web Design Solutions

Narrow Gate Media today announced the relaunch of www.NarrowGateMedia.com as the resource for Indianapolis area businesses, non profits, and associations to find quality web design, web development, and internet marketing solutions.

Indianapolis, IN (PRWEB) July 29, 2010 -- Narrow Gate Media today announced the relaunch of www.NarrowGateMedia.com as the resource for Indianapolis area businesses, non profits, and associations to find quality web design, web development, and internet marketing solutions. With new services and portfolio examples added, a quarterly email newsletter, free 30-day email marketing trials, search engine marketing & optimization setup forms, and a “submit your project” area, the website is anticipated to quickly become the leading resource for indianapolis web design, development, and internet marketing services.

Future plans include a blog, ecommerce, a guide on how to select a web designer, and professional advice from local pros via a Q & A forum for Indinapolis businesses, non profits, and associations.

The web site will be a great resource for anyone needing to hire internet professionals for their Indianapolis web design, development, and internet marketing needs.

Mr. Vaught of Narrow Gate Media stated, “Our goal is to be the best Indianapolis web design company in the area. Simply put, we enjoy helping businesses, non profits, and associations with their web design needs. The information at www.NarrowGateMedia.com is clear, simple, and offers what is needed for our prospective customers to make an educated decision on why choosing NGM is the right choice.”
